

Mastering the Elevator Pitch

A concise, interesting, compelling statement about you and the work you hope to do!

Ready?	Set?	Go!
Purpose: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Quickly connect you to someone who might assist in your job search. 2. Land you a follow-up conversation with the appropriate individual.  Context: Use it primarily when a brief introduction is appropriate. Guidelines for Your Pitch: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Be short and sweet! (10-30 seconds) 2. Project optimism and confidence. 3. Say something intriguing to capture attention and emphasize your value – the WOW factor! 4. Ask for something specific. 5. Provide a business card. 	Integral to the Pitch: Your Value Statement “I help X do Y by means Z.” X = Who? People/organizations Y = What? Take action Z = How? Provide data; present alternatives; address concerns; coordinate activities “I help hospitals (X) improve patient experiences (Y) by testing and implementing patient solutions (Z).” “I work with women (X) to overcome imposter syndrome (Y) by facilitating support groups (Z).” “I partner with non-profits (X) to reduce their costs (Y) by helping them coordinate common events (Z).”	Geoff: “Susan, It’s Geoff Smith. Hey, it’s been a while since we worked at Berlitz.” Susan: “What have you been up to?” Geoff: “Right now, I’m helping international students (X) understand American culture (Y) through project-team exercises (Z), and I hope to do the same for firms with expats in the U.S.” Option 1 Geoff: “I understand you know Joe Shapiro at Commisceo Global. I wonder, would you be able to introduce us?” Susan: “Yes, but I’d like to hear more. Here’s my card. Please call me next week.” Geoff: “Great! And here’s my card. Talk to you then.” or Option 2 Geoff: “Would you be interested in learning more? Here’s my card. I’d love to come by and speak with you.” Susan: “Yes. Let’s set up a time in the next two weeks to talk.” Geoff: “Wonderful. I’ll call to schedule.”