Case Report Form

Once you've identified a case that you think might be a good fit for our project -- that is, a case demonstrating how a problem or issue has been effectively addressed in an anthropological way--this is where you will complete a "case report" by providing the title, author(s), reference, short overview, and any extra information you think might be pertinent.

- Email
- Your (last) name
- What "small group" are you in? (Choose 1, 2 or 3)
- Source Title (provide the title of the source, whether an article title, podcast title, or anything else)
- Author/Interviewee (provide the name/s of the people to whom we would attribute this application of anthropology)
- Reference (provide the reference to the source. If a chapter title or journal article, please include the full citation from Google Scholar. If an online source or podcast, please include a link
- Problem/Issue (in one or two sentences, what is the problem or issue that is addressed in this application of anthropology?)
- Approach (in one or two sentences, how have the authors/anthropologists described in the case approached or studied the issue or problem identified above?)
- Outcome/Practical Significance (What outcomes or practical insights resulted from applying an anthropological approach to the problem/issue?)
- Key Quotes (insert any key quotes from the source that might be used in our communications. If a written source, be sure to include page number. If a podcast, include a time.)
- Additional Information (Feel free to include anything else related to this case -- does it include interesting visuals? Is this case part of a larger project that might yield other useful cases for our project? Any additional resources that might be worth following up?)